Global Living Learning Community

Program Overview

Add an international perspective to your major and make yourself more competitive for a job or advanced study after college by joining the Global LLC!
This unique living-learning community is perfect for first-year students who want to explore their interests in other cultures and international issues. It is designed for students wishing to major or minor in another language, regardless of their primary field of study (art, biology, business, communication, healthcare, etc).
Members of the Global LLC enjoy the experience of traditional residence hall life, but they also benefit from living with other students who share their academic goals and an interest in international issues and other cultures. They gain greater access to faculty and staff from the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures and form bonds with students from other disciplines. Finally, they take part in learning opportunities that highlight diverse cultural practices, worldviews, and linguistic diversity—experience that graduate schools and employers seek in our 21st-century economy.*

Program Goals
Students participating in the Global Living Learning Community will:
• Take one class together in the fall and spring semesters.
• Live in an environment that promotes academic achievement.
• Receive individualized attention and support.
• Participate in social events in and around the ECU Community.
• Co-curricular activities may include, but are not limited to: a welcome picnic and ropes course, a professional etiquette dinner, international movie nights, international dining experiences, Voyages of Discovery and/or Performing Arts events, informal socials with faculty and upper-class students, museum visits and concerts in and beyond Greenville, as well as individualized academic advising sessions.
• Enhance their personal and professional development by learning about international issues and cultures.
• Attend cultural events, film screenings, and talks by experts on global issues.
• Learn about interning, studying, or working abroad.
• Develop a network of lifelong friendships.
(*Foreign Languages and Literatures graduates earned the most among liberal arts majors according to a recent study by the National Association of Colleges and Employers.)
