Art and Design Living Learning Community

In the Art and Design Living Learning Community (A+D LLC) we discover how to be a successful artist and/or designer and student, connect directly with faculty, and explore the disciplines and resources of the School—from dark rooms and weaving looms to a wood shop and 3D printers. We investigate each of the School’s programs including animation/interactive design, art education, art history, ceramics, cinematic arts and media production (film), graphic design, illustration, metal design (jewelry), painting, photography, printmaking sculpture, and textile design. We have fun! Our programming is meant to foster community and prepare students for future art careers. Each year we host several art workshops, an LLC art exhibition, and field trips.

“I have sincerely enjoyed being apart of the Art+ Design LLC in Garrett Hall the proximity from Jenkins is wonderful you can leave 5 mins before class and still get there on time. The friends and community I have made have been everlasting and very beneficial. The programs I got to participate in have been valuable too! I got to take part in “sneak peeks” of what upper level classes would be doing and get to learn more of what each concentration does. I have truly cherished being in the Art+ Design Living and Learning community, and I would do it ten times over if I could do it again!” – Shayla Simons
