Global Living Learning Community

The Global Living Learning Community is perfect for first-year students who want to explore their interests in other cultures and international issues. It is designed for students wishing to major or minor in another language, regardless of their primary field of study (art, biology, business, communication, healthcare, etc.). Students take part in learning opportunities that highlight diverse cultural practices, worldviews, and linguistic diversity. They are not required to take a foreign language to participate!

Global scholars have greater access to faculty, staff, and other students from the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures. They enjoy learning opportunities that highlight diverse cultural practices, products, worldviews, and linguistic diversity.

While participating in the Global LLC, students:

- Take one class together in the Fall and in the Spring Semester.
- Live in an environment that is conducive to academic achievement.
- Receive individualized attention and support.
- Enhance their personal and professional development.
- Attend social and cultural events, film screenings, and talks by experts on global issues.
- Learn about interning, studying or working abroad.
- Develop a network of lifelong friendships.
